

2015–2016

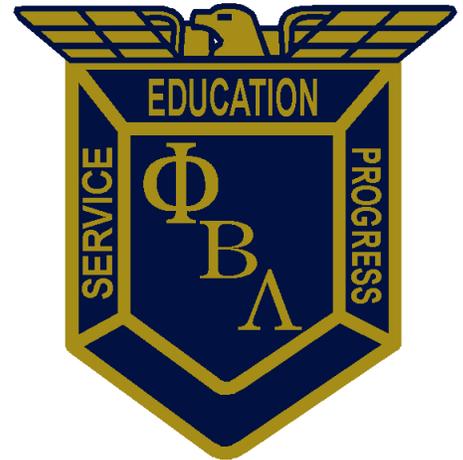

CONNECT

FUTURE BUSINESS LEADERS OF AMERICA-PHI BETA LAMBDA

Volume 1, Issue 1

December 1, 2015

- Phi Beta Lambda (PBL) is the collegiate version of Future Business Leaders of America. PBL is a national non-profit education association with a quarter million students preparing for careers in business and business-related fields.
- In this Fall semester, Truman PBL gained a total of 19 pledges.

Chapter

This semester we had many professional speakers including Tim Ney from Edward Jones, Megan Web from U.S. Cellular and representatives from other businesses like Nintendo, Tru Yo, and Ernst & Young. We also had many important workshops covering networking, career counselling, and resume which was presented by the Truman Career Center. We also had students from the Truman Bulldog investment fund enlighten us on benefits of investing in stocks and saving money for the future.

InstaMag

Executive Board (2015-2016)

President: Hailey Ketchum

VP of Professional Development: Jessica Sebek

VP of New Membership: Kelsey Beasley

VP of Fundraising: Kana Kotani

VP of Community Service: Alexis Caraker

VP of Chapter Involvement: Jace Galang

VP of Public Relations: Siying (Lucy) Li

Secretary: Taylor N. Libbert

Treasurer: Gefei Zhang

This semester, we had several very enjoyable social events. It was a nice time to catch up with each other. We had a campus wide scavenger hunt for which members broke up into teams of two to three and had to venture around campus and take pictures of certain things that were on the list. This was a good team-building activity that led to some friendly competition with one another. For Halloween, we went to the AKL haunted house where members tested their fears with one another.

National Fall Leadership Conference (NFLC)-Omaha

For many PBL members, the NFLCs are a convenient and affordable way to learn more about how to be professional in your field. NFLC provided professional development and career planning workshops. This semester, Hailey, Jeananne, Taylor, and Gefei with five pledges went to Omaha to attend the NFLC 2015.

